Heat Is Superseding Oriental Rice. A strong point made by the flour-mill owners of the West is that, when any considerable number of the millions of people who are now being fed in the East-growing area of the world will not be sufficient to supply the demand. "Even Japan should consume a four-fold quantity of that kind of rice," he said, "the whole available supply of the Pacific coast would provide the commodity for only 30 per cent of the demand of that kind of rice."

"It is shown by the report that Master at Arms Elliott died while going to the rescue of others, and that Ship Fitter Leary was injured while doing rescue work."

South Americans on Better Terms. CARACAS, Venezuela, April 22.—Senor Herbero, Chilean Minister to Caracas, indicated to the press that the relations of the Republic of Colombia, which is on the way to this country from Europe, to land at Laguaira, for the purpose of meeting President Castro, was the renewal of consular relations between Colombia and Venezuela, which will be followed by the renewal of diplomatic relations. A number of consular officials of both countries are expected to be in Caracas, and the differences between the two nations has disappeared.

Sultan Sends Compliments. CONSTANTINOPLE, April 22.—The Turkish cruiser Medulla, built at Cramp's shipyard at Philadelphia, arrived at Mytilene today and was delivered to the Turkish officers. The Sultan was so pleased that he sent a complimentary telegram to President Roosevelt and a personal message to United States Minister Liekehusen commending the high qualities of American shipbuilding.

Strike in the Ship Yards. QUINCY, Mass., April 22.—A strike was formally declared tonight by the boiler-makers' union and the shipwrights' union against the Fore River Ship and Engine company. The two unions have a membership of 1000. An early settlement of the troubles appears impossible. The threatened strike of the shipyard, planned for April 24th, is likely to be postponed.

KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM. Your Hair Will Fall Out Till You Become Bald.

Modern science has discovered that the scalp is caused by a germ that digs its way into the roots of the hair, where it breeds and causes the hair to fall out. The hair is the life of the scalp, and if it is not kept clean and free from dandruff, it will fall out. The hair is the life of the scalp, and if it is not kept clean and free from dandruff, it will fall out.

Unna of Hamburg, Germany, discovered the dandruff germ, and after many years of research, she discovered the remedy. It is a simple, natural, and effective remedy, and it is the only one that will kill the dandruff germ and prevent it from coming back.

Unna's Dandruff Cure is the only one that will kill the dandruff germ and prevent it from coming back. It is a simple, natural, and effective remedy, and it is the only one that will kill the dandruff germ and prevent it from coming back.

Capt. Cowles Officially Describes Recent Disaster on the Missouri.

Daring Work of Saving the Ship and Rescuing the Imperiled and Injured.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Capt. W. S. Cowles, commander of the battleship Missouri, in his report on the disaster which occurred on his ship, made public at the Navy department today, tells of the deeds of personal bravery and of the total disregard of danger displayed in the work of saving the ship and rescuing the imperiled. Capt. Cowles says: "At 11 o'clock a. m., April 13, off Pensacola, Fla., while at record practice on range No. 3, and after the fifth shot, from the left gun, after turret, had fired, I heard an explosion, looked aft and saw a great flame bursting from the after turret. Sounding fire and collision quarters, I directed Lieut. Commander F. K. Hill to take her into shore water. He afterward anchored her in five and one-half fathoms. "The other ships on the range followed us and offered every assistance, and were ready to save lives, as they probably expected us to blow up. I believed the ship to be in imminent danger and went quickly to the fire, found the turret impossible to enter; streams of water were already directed on it. "All entrances were barred with the dead and dying. Two on top of turret, one calling for help and every one trying to reach him. "Priest Offered Aid. "Passing around the turret, I saw Father Gleason, who offered to send a wireless telegram for me to the Admiral, and I went below, reached the berth and splinter deck and found Lieut. Commander J. M. Orchard directing streams of water below into the upper, and thence overflowing into the lower handling room. In addition to those directed below from the turret by Lieut. W. R. White, Met Gunner Cox, who said: 'Magazines all flooded; fire not under control. "Then Lieut. C. Davis, coming up the ladder, said: 'There is a man at the foot of this ladder who is alive and helpless.' I went down and felt about, found J. T. J. Donnelly, ordinary seaman and brought him up, being assisted by Chief Machinist G. Croft, a man on the sick list who had thrown away a crutch. Mr. Davis mentions this man especially. I afterward returned and pulled out three more whom I could not recognize and finally ordered up Midshipman G. Caffery, who heroically persisted in remaining in the lower handling room up to his neck in water and much overcome by the fumes. "He had to be led out. Afterward he resumed his place on deck and assisted in the navigating, in a very poor condition. Chief Machinist Croft came under my immediate observation. "First in the Turret. "Lieut. William P. Scott was the first in the turret, followed by Lieut. Earl, Lieut. Marshall and Paymaster Dyer remaining on to help get out wounded who came from the turret. Lieut. Crank and Ensign Hamner, water from below at once, Chief Engineer Bleg was at the engines and Lieut. Castleman in the fire room. All the midshipmen were busy. Everyone was somewhat affected by the fumes. Lieut. Commander Orchard and Lieut. Davis, especially. "Mr. Cox was up and down everywhere, looking out for possible flames where smoke still continued after the fire was under control, as he was under control at such a point must be out. Father Gleason was everywhere, assisting everyone. Ensign Hamner, spotter and volunteer, hard at work. Dr. Urie and his corps all looking after the wounded. "Lieut. Urie fell down the hold and hurt himself and no one was wiser until the fire was over. Midshipmen Bagley and Ridgers were all busy at their posts. Everyone, officers and men were cool and collected and everyone helped intelligently. "It is shown by the report that Master at Arms Elliott died while going to the rescue of others, and that Ship Fitter Leary was injured while doing rescue work."

MONUMENT TO AMERICA'S FIRST ELEPHANT

WHITE PLAINS, April 22.—One of the oldest and yet the most interesting monuments erected stands on the public square in the town of Somers, in the northern part of Westchester county. It is a memorial to the first elephant brought to the United States and to the "beef trust" case in the Supreme court. The monument was erected sixty years ago to "Old Bet," which was the elephant's name. Her owner was Hackallah Bailey. The primitive circus lasted in Somers for months before Mr. Bailey sent "Old Bet" on a tour of the United States. While in South Carolina, in 1837, she crushed a keeper to death, then escaped and started on a run across country. The circus hands chased her for twenty miles before they got a fatal bullet in her brain.

SEEKS INFORMATION FROM ATTORNEY-GENERAL

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Representative Gaines of Tennessee today introduced a resolution calling on the Attorney-General to inform the House, "at this session," why he has not moved to advance the "beef trust" case in the Supreme court of the United States, "as one of recognized public importance," the same as the merger case was advanced, and why he has not instituted criminal proceedings against the defendants in the "beef trust" case. It also asks what information he has that the "beef trust" is violating the injunction against it, and what information he has showing or tending to show that there is another and different "beef trust" engaged in interstate commerce, in violation of the anti-trust law.

BIG STEEL PLANT TO COST OVER $600,000

CHICAGO, April 22.—A steel foundries plant to cost between $600,000 and $700,000 is soon to be erected in Chicago by Joseph E. Schwab, former president of the American Steel Foundries company, who resigned from that office April 16th. The plant will cover fifty acres, and it is the intention to secure a long option upon fifty acres more, in which to make extensions to the plant when required. Plans have been prepared, and the preliminary work is well in hand. Mr. Schwab intimated that at present he is practically alone in the project. The plant will give employment to from 1500 to 2000 men, and the capacity will be from 3000 to 3500 steel castings a month.

CANNOT ATTEND MINING CONGRESS

SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE. BOISE, Ida., April 22.—Judge J. H. Richards, president of the American Mining congress, has received from President Roosevelt a response to an invitation sent him to attend the meeting in Portland this year. This expresses regret at being unable to attend, but states that the Government will be represented by three officials as at the last session when Secretary Shaw attended on request of the President.

To Protect Child Life.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The organization of a national child-labor commission, whose purpose is to "supervise the actions of existing State and labor committees in all parts of the country, and to prevent the new States from sacrificing child life which characterized some older industrial communities," was announced today. The commission includes Grover Cleveland, Cardinal Gibbons and Judge Ben D. Lindsay. Children's court, Denver.

Drowned in the Surf at Waikiki.

HONOLULU, April 22.—W. S. Crouch, who arrived here today on the steamship Korea, was drowned this afternoon while bathing in the surf at Waikiki. Many bathers saw the drowning man and an unsuccessful effort was made to rescue Crouch. Mr. Crouch's wife and two children are in Rochester, N. Y.

Fishing in Neutral Waters.

NEW ORLEANS, April 22.—Passengers arriving from Bluefields brought details of the seizure of the six Cayman schooners in that harbor, as a result of which Great Britain has lodged complaint with Nicaragua. The captains of the schooners, when caught, contended that they were fishing in neutral waters; the Nicaraguan commandant said they were confiscating turtles bred in Nicaraguan waters.

Mother Jones Is in Quarantine

Italian Strikers Intimidated by Threat of Military Interference, and Say They Will Be Good.

"Mother Jones has submitted to quarantine," said T. B. Beatty, who returned from Helper at 3 o'clock this morning, in company with Brig-Gen. John Q. Cannon.

The Italians at Strike Town have agreed to surrender the two Italians, wanted for assisting Mother Jones to break quarantine, or at least to offer no resistance to officers carrying warrants.

"We found the towns of Helper and Castle Gate completely terrorized when we arrived yesterday morning," said Dr. Beatty.

"Farmers were flocking in to procure guns and men at the coal bunkers and roundhouses feared to go to work."

"We visited Strike Town and Mother Jones at 9 o'clock last night. She occupied a tent, surrounded by her admirers. When we explained the object of our trip she promised to respect the quarantine."

Dr. Beatty does not think that the militia will have to be called out, as the strikers weakened perceptibly in the presence of the Governor's representatives. It is evident that they do not desire the presence of the militia.

Gen. Cannon refused to make any statement until after he had seen the Governor.

McClellan's Morgan Interview.

Through the swift turn of the whirligig of events, Mayor George B. McClellan, of Greater New York, finds that half the public men he meets officially or sits next to at dinner are men whom he has interviewed, which frequently moves him to relate adventures of his newspaper days.

A favorite of these is his interview with J. Pierpont Morgan. He avers that it was the most picturesque in his career of reportorial experiences, which, covering three years on three papers of different types, were rich and varied.

It was in his Wall Street days that the J. Pierpont Morgan episode happened. "A new editor did it—it is not necessary to say," said the Mayor. The new man had a lot of ideas which he had been keeping in storage for use when he should get into authority. He proceeded right away to reform things. He had an idea that all the men were in a rut and that things were not spicy enough. He wanted to sharpen up the paper. One after another he called the men to him and solemnly outlined his ideas. My turn came in time.

"McClellan," he said, "I want you to make the Wall Street stuff breezier. It's too dry and uninteresting. I want you to live things up. Put some ginger in it. Here's my idea: for a starter, I want you, today, to get a nice, chatty column-and-a-half interview with J. Pierpont Morgan." I gasped, and when he went on, "Oh, that's all right. Just let him talk about anything he wants to, but make it chatty." "Think of that!" A nice, column-and-a-half interview with J. Pierpont Morgan! I didn't laugh then, but we all
